How to Register for an EndNote Online Account if you do not have the desktop version of EndNote on your computer/laptop

1. Go to the Web of Science database - https://guides.lib.utexas.edu/db/370
2. If you are off campus, you will be directed to login with your EID and password
3. Once in the Web of Science database, click on the link for EndNote
4. Sign up for an account.
5. Follow the prompts to create your account.
6. Once you have created an EndNote Online account, login to your account. In the future, you can login to your account through either the Web of Science database or by going directly to EndNote Online - http://www.myendnoteweb.com/EndNoteWeb.html

Installing the Plug-in for your EndNote Online account.

The plug-in enables direct export of references from a database (such as PubMed) to your EndNote Online account. It also installs a tab in Microsoft Word for the “Cite While You Write” function that inserts references and formats citations in your reference list as you write papers.
How to Install the Plug-in

You will find the links to the plug-ins for Windows and Macintosh from the “Downloads” page in your EndNote Online account. The plug-in is called “Cite While You Write.”

2. Follow these detailed instructions for installation
   a. For Macintosh: “Installing the Macintosh CWYW Plug-in” video - https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=j7gQOL2ztCc
   b. For Windows: Installing the Windows Internet Explorer & Cite While You Write Plug-in (description under video title indicates that the plug-in can be installed in Internet Explorer, Google Chrome, or Microsoft Edge). https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=GsAsq5e8krU&feature=youtu.be

3. This is how the Cite While You Write plug-in will look on the Microsoft Word toolbar.

4. As noted above, the plug-in will also enable direct export of references from library databases into your EndNote Online library.
